

Re: Washington State Ferries, security. I am very concerned that federally-mandated security measures will significantly add to my work commute times and cost. These impacts will compound increased costs and a terminal relocation already in the works. I love my job and my hometown; these compounded impacts may force me to give up one or the other.

How about increasing our security by adopting a more humble foreign policy, by becoming less of a global police state that fans the flames of muslims' (and others') hatred of Americans?? We can increase domestic security by allowing the United Nations to work.
